New Living Construction

To Whom It May Concern:

This letter will serve as a reference for Dmitriy Dain and his staff at New Living Construction.

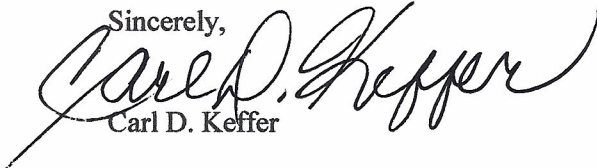

The New Living Construction team excel in the art of being courteous to the customer and by providing a first class professional approach in doing business. Appointments and work schedules were adhered to for all the work performed for us. The team provided research, knowledge and skill to offer suggestions that helped specify quality and types of materials that could be used to meet or stay within our budget.

New Living Construction provided us a sense of confidence when they offered references and provided pictures and other evidence of their finished work along with copies of licenses, insurances and bonds. The company provides a well-written, (typed) and detailed contract which is discussed and signed by all parties. After the completion of work a Certificate of Competency is provided to the customer. All work is guaranteed for one year and a Release of Lien is given the customer before the final payment is assessed. Depending on the size and scope of the project often determines whether a down payment is required before the work begins.

It is our opinion that New Living Construction has the capability to take a project from the initial idea, or conception, or from the shell of a structure and perform all the necessary elements required to finish the kind of job you would expect. This would include the latest and most advanced technologies in air-conditioning, electrical, plumbing, flooring, ceiling, wall demolitions, build-out and custom finished carpentry. This would include all residential and small to median size commercial applications.

New Living Construction has performed aceptionally for our business and personal requirements. They have been reliable and consistent in their work. We highly recommend their talents and skill. The staff exemplifies what most of South Florida contractors do not provide—concern for their customer with complete satisfaction, a guarantee and a smile. The services at New Living Construction are turn-key and based upon the work performed for us, no office or residential project is too large or small—the company is capable of most all technical and architectural applications if given the opportunity.

Sincerely,

Carl D. Keffer
